A black and white photograph showing the silhouettes of four people from behind, looking out a large, multi-paned window. The scene is dimly lit, with the bright light from the window creating a strong contrast with the dark interior. The people are standing or sitting, their forms dark against the bright light outside. The window has several vertical and horizontal frames, dividing it into multiple panes. The overall mood is contemplative and solitary.

My own thoughts are my companions

— Longfellow

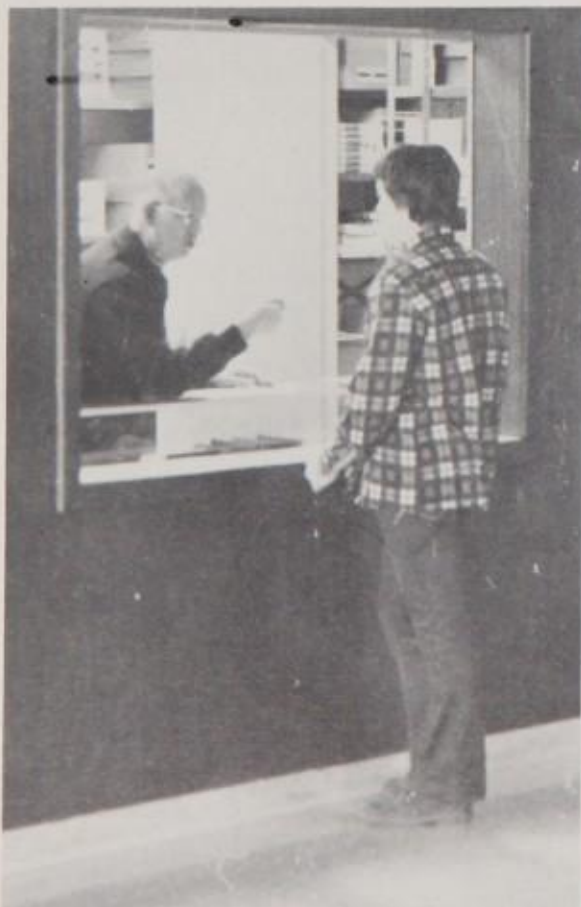

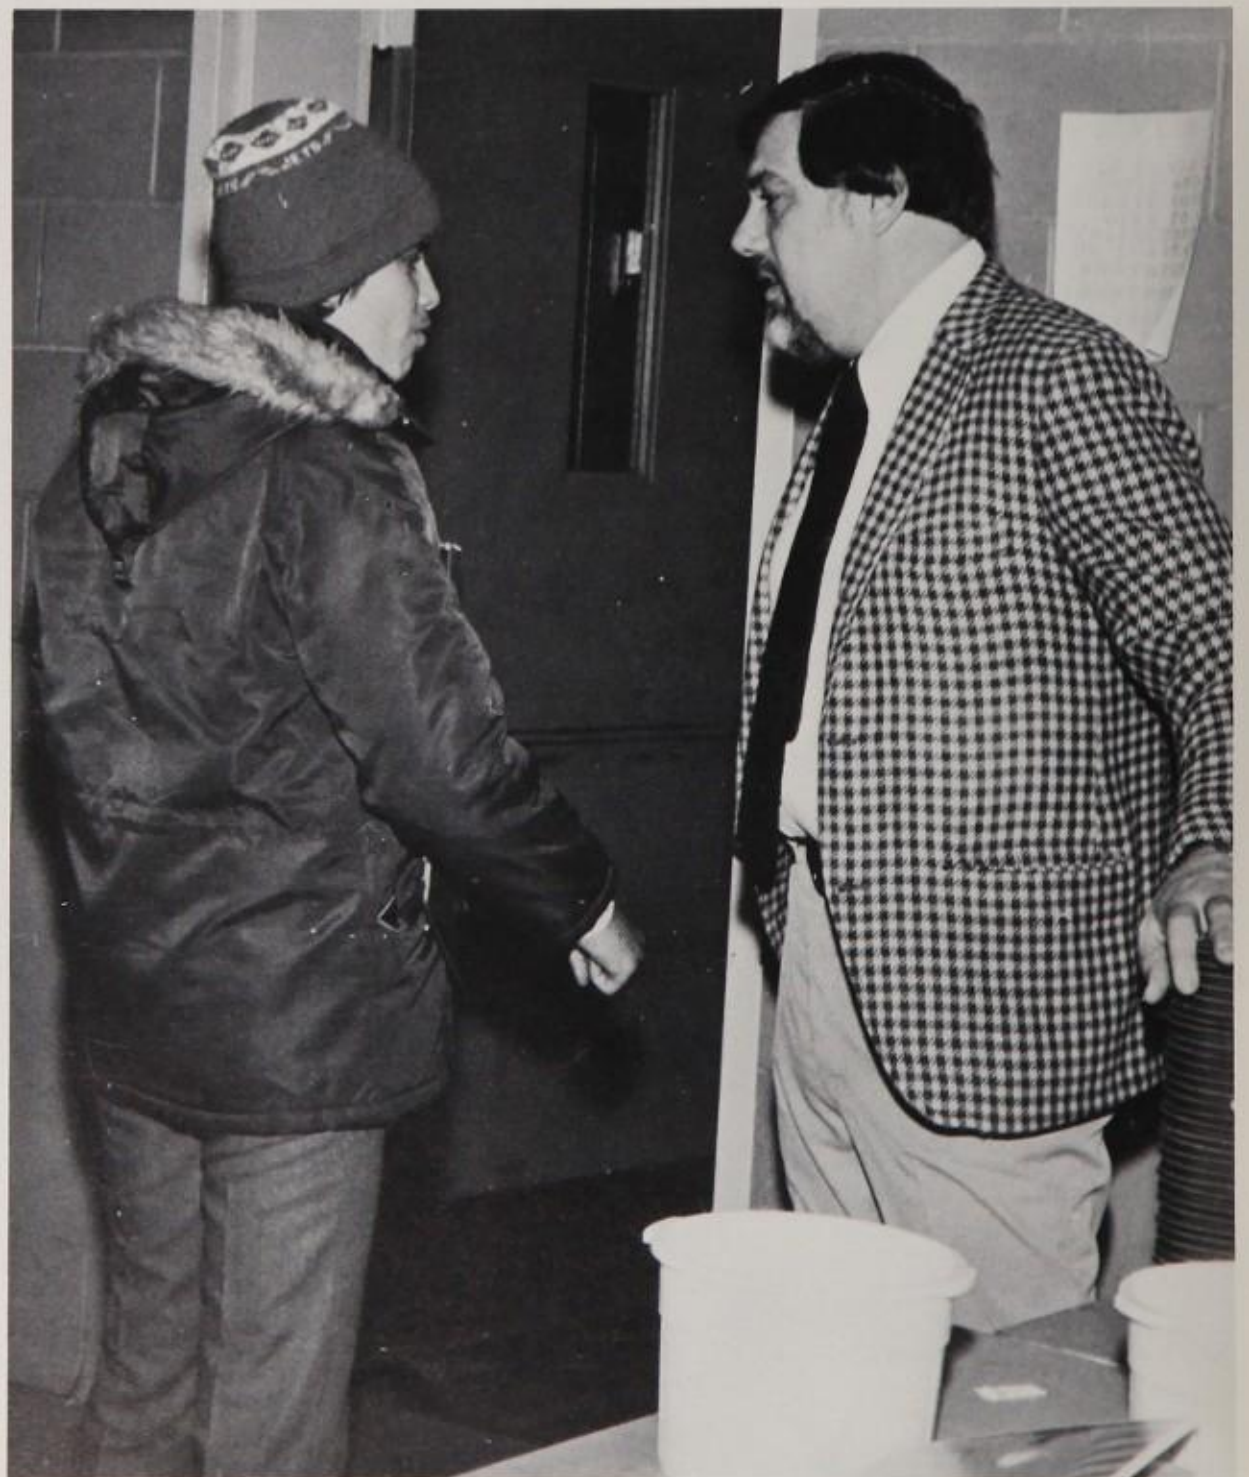

On the verge of dozing off as the long and boring valedictory speech neared its conclusion, he sat on the hard wooden seat in his cap and gown waiting to receive his diploma after all preliminaries would end. Even this was done in a stately manner with all graduates marching two by two in alphabetical order up to the principal's podium where they would be greeted by handshakes and congratulations. Four years of hard work were over and all that work was about to pay off.

The call of names had started and his would be soon. He heard it intoned over the microphone and marched solemnly up to the principal. With his left hand he reached for the diploma and after he had it in his possession he then shook the principal's hand. After this brief encounter (which the principal would repeat a few hundred times that day) he marched back to his seat, diploma in hand. That was all there was to it, he thought at the moment.

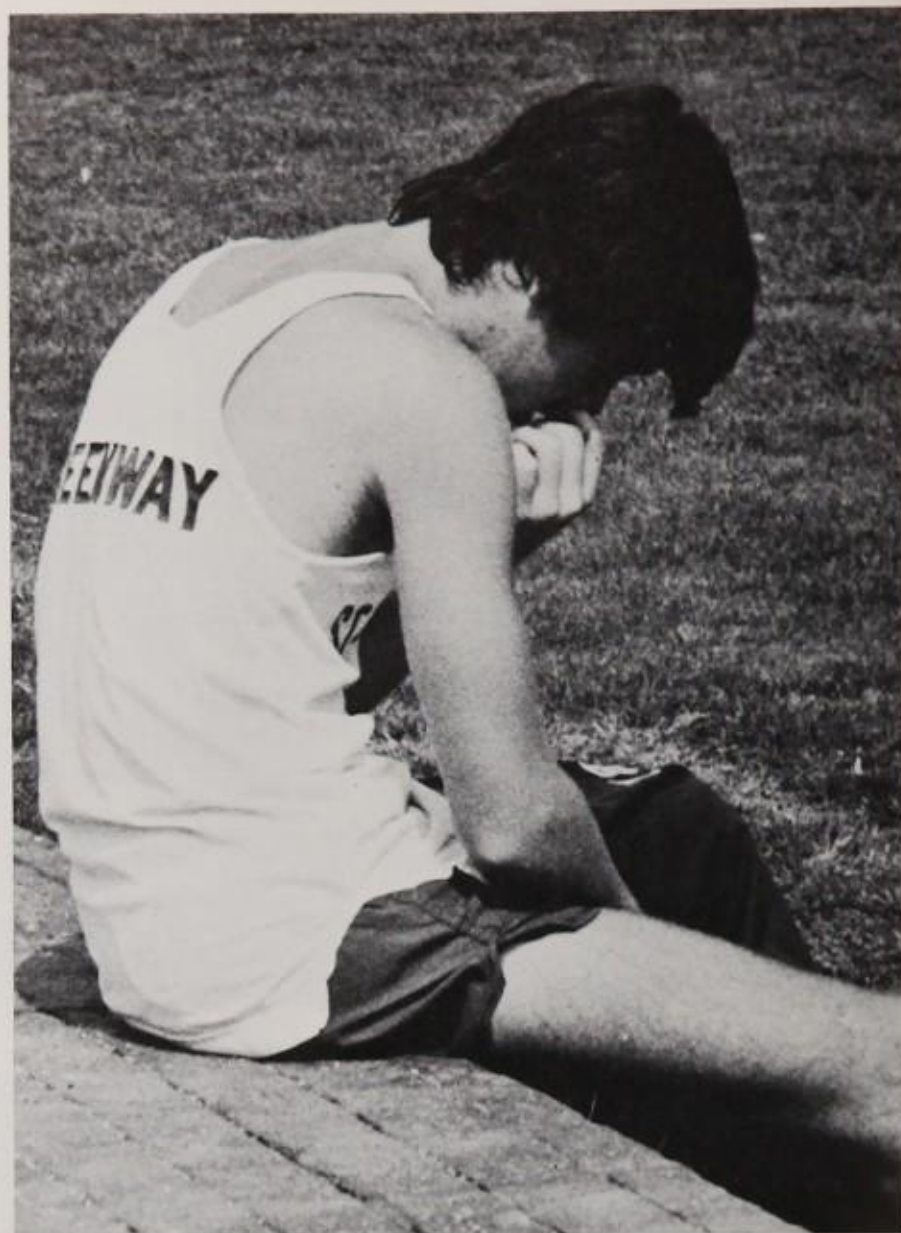

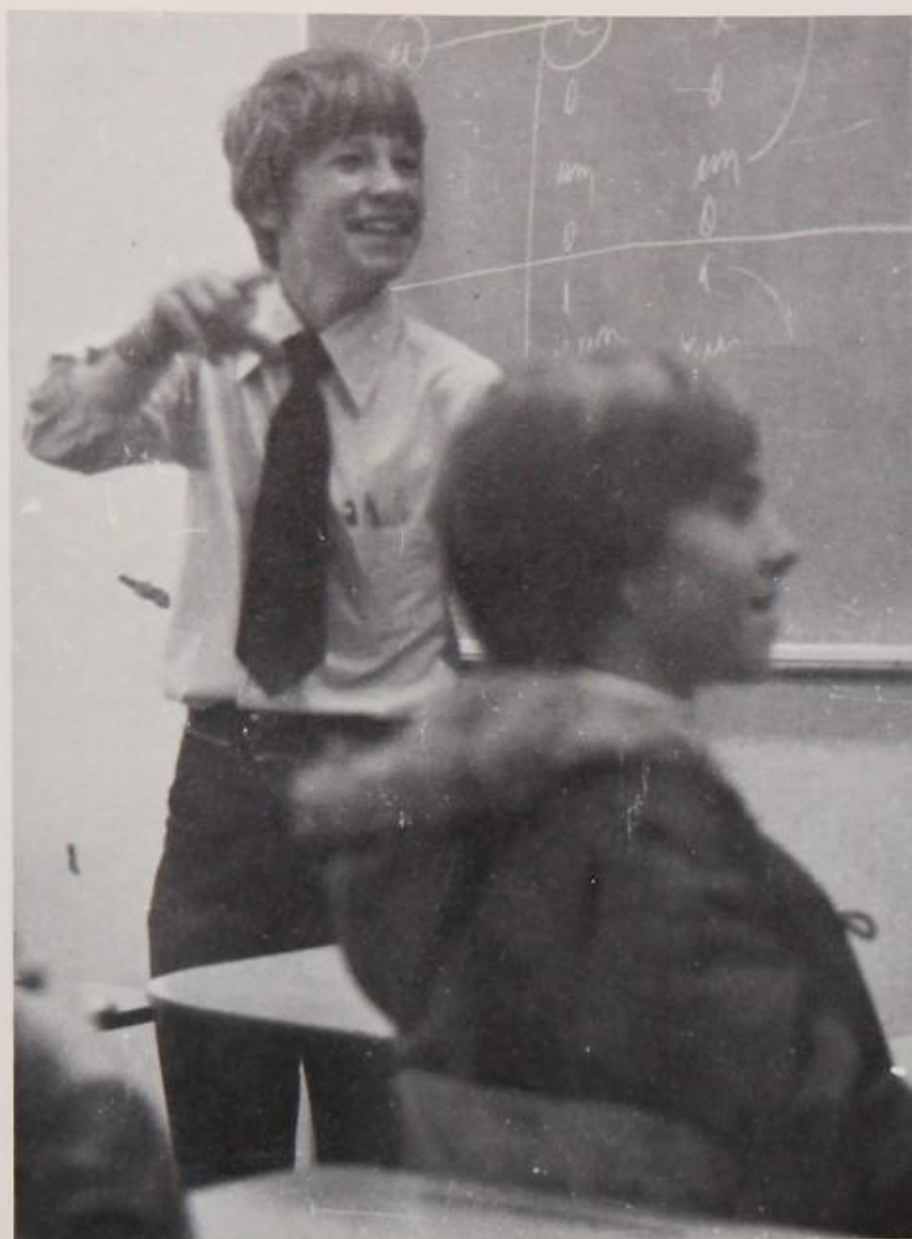

As he was seated again (vaguely hearing the names of the remainder of the senior class intoned in the boring monotone that had announced his own name), he thought that there had to be more to graduating than just the diploma. The diploma symbolized something and he reminisced about the steps that were taken to make the diploma bearing his name a reality. For the last four years he had experienced good times and bad times, but he wouldn't want to have one thing done differently.

Times had changed and so had he. He thought back to the days when graduation was the farthest thing from his mind, back in freshman year when everything seemed so complex but now in retrospect seemed so simple.

He had to learn to adjust to new surroundings, make new friends, relinquish old friendships to people he would see very little of from now on, and still have time left for his education. He strove for independence, and although he failed more often than he succeeded in making his independent decisions work out the way he wanted them to, he developed a sense of awareness during freshman year which would help him greatly throughout the remainder of his high school years. For the first time he came into contact with the operations of a large school, where individual concern was available if the student wanted it.

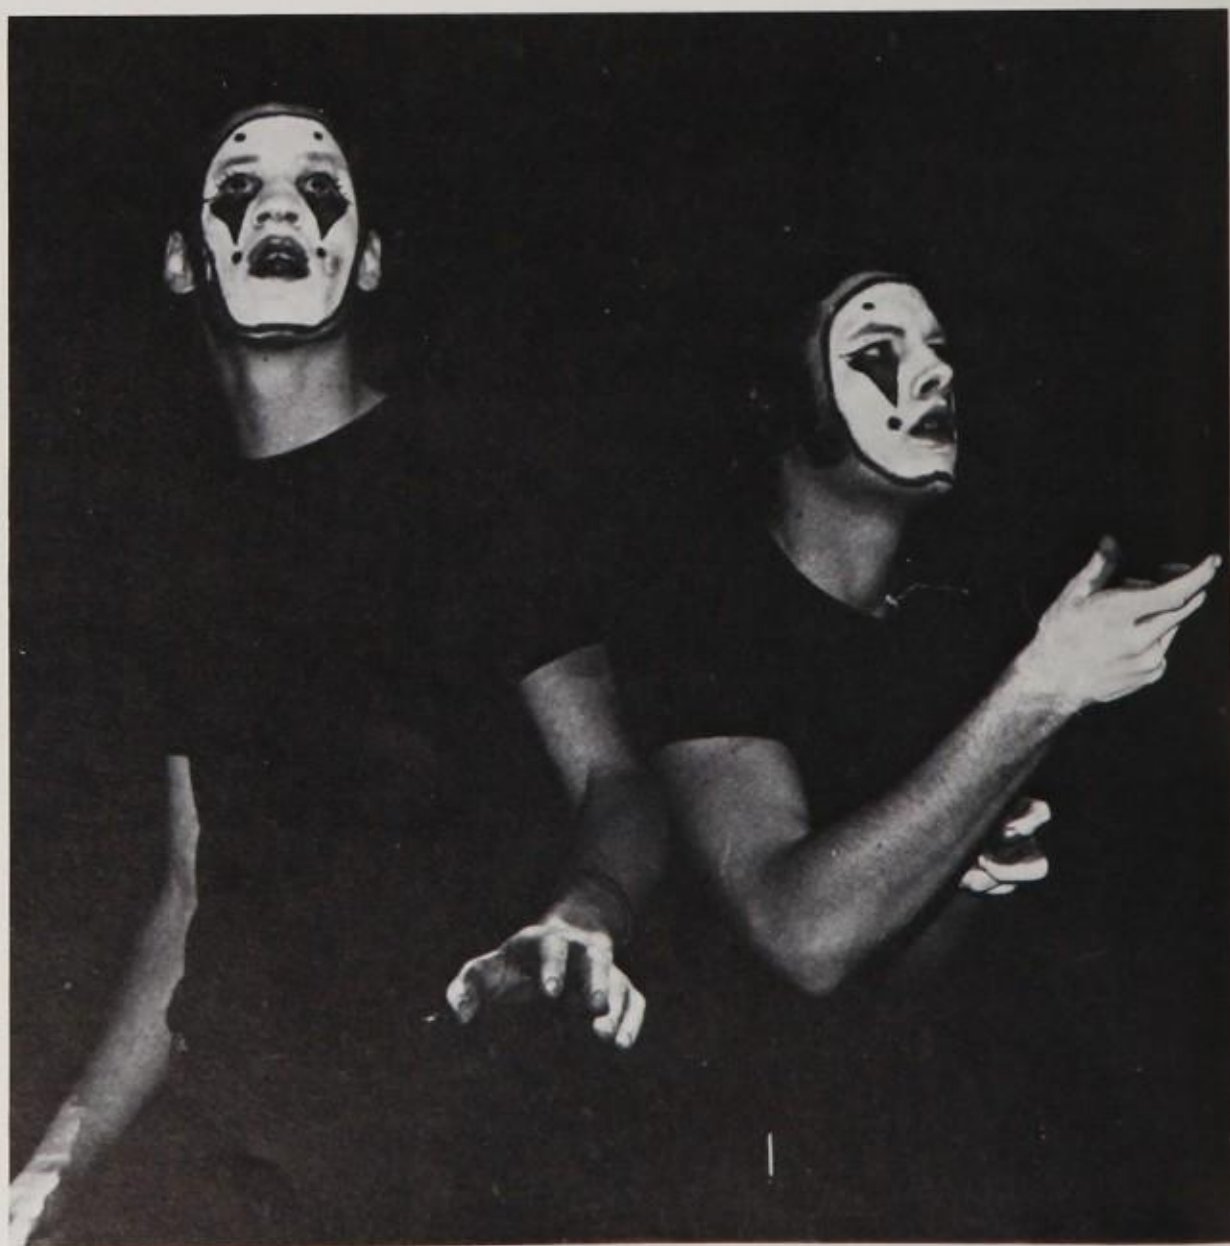

The importance of the saying "you only get out what you put in" was becoming apparent to him. And he learned to become involved — teachers told him so and fellow students told him so. He was determined not to let time pass him by. He had a wide variety of school extra-curricular activities to choose from. Whether they were intellectual such as debate or the math club, or sports such as state championship track or soccer teams, he had an outlet for his talents.

As he moved on to sophomore year his understanding of what his education meant enlarged. He was no longer oblivious to everything that did not affect him personally.

WHAT WE DO NOT UNDERSTAND,
WE DO NOT POSSESS

— GOETHE

He began to see things for what they really were — he began to read between the lines. The hidden meanings of things going on around him began to appear to him. It was more than just simple math and English that he learned about during his school hours.

Junior year brought with it more of the understanding that he started to develop in sophomore year, and during this time he first began to think about what he would do once he graduated. College plans and employment plans brought him to reading BARRON'S COLLEGE GUIDE and the classified advertisements of his local newspaper on a regular basis. For the first time his environment was not confined to his high school only.

In his senior year he was thrust into the position of belonging to the leaders of the school — a post held in varying degrees by all members of the senior class. This identity seemed appropriate for him and he seemed to welcome the opportunity to be in a decision-making role. Now he knew the ins and outs of school well enough to know which short cuts could be taken without ending up getting lost or going in the wrong direction.

With his increased sense of awareness he realized a marked change in school, yet one that had been building up gradually for quite some time.

THERE IS NOTHING
— HERACLITUS

Things might not have been as smooth as they once were but he came to expect that. The important thing was that no matter what happened, he would be moving on soon and didn't have much time to waste. Hopefully, he had enough preparation. The true test, however, would only come much later when he would be in a position to say he did these things correctly and those things incorrectly. He didn't know how long it would take or even when this would occur. But he had learned early to be ever-alert for when a situation might present itself.

His philosophy had changed a great deal and he gained a new perspective on what education really was in those last four years. He had learned to adapt to the world around him — which was an education in itself.

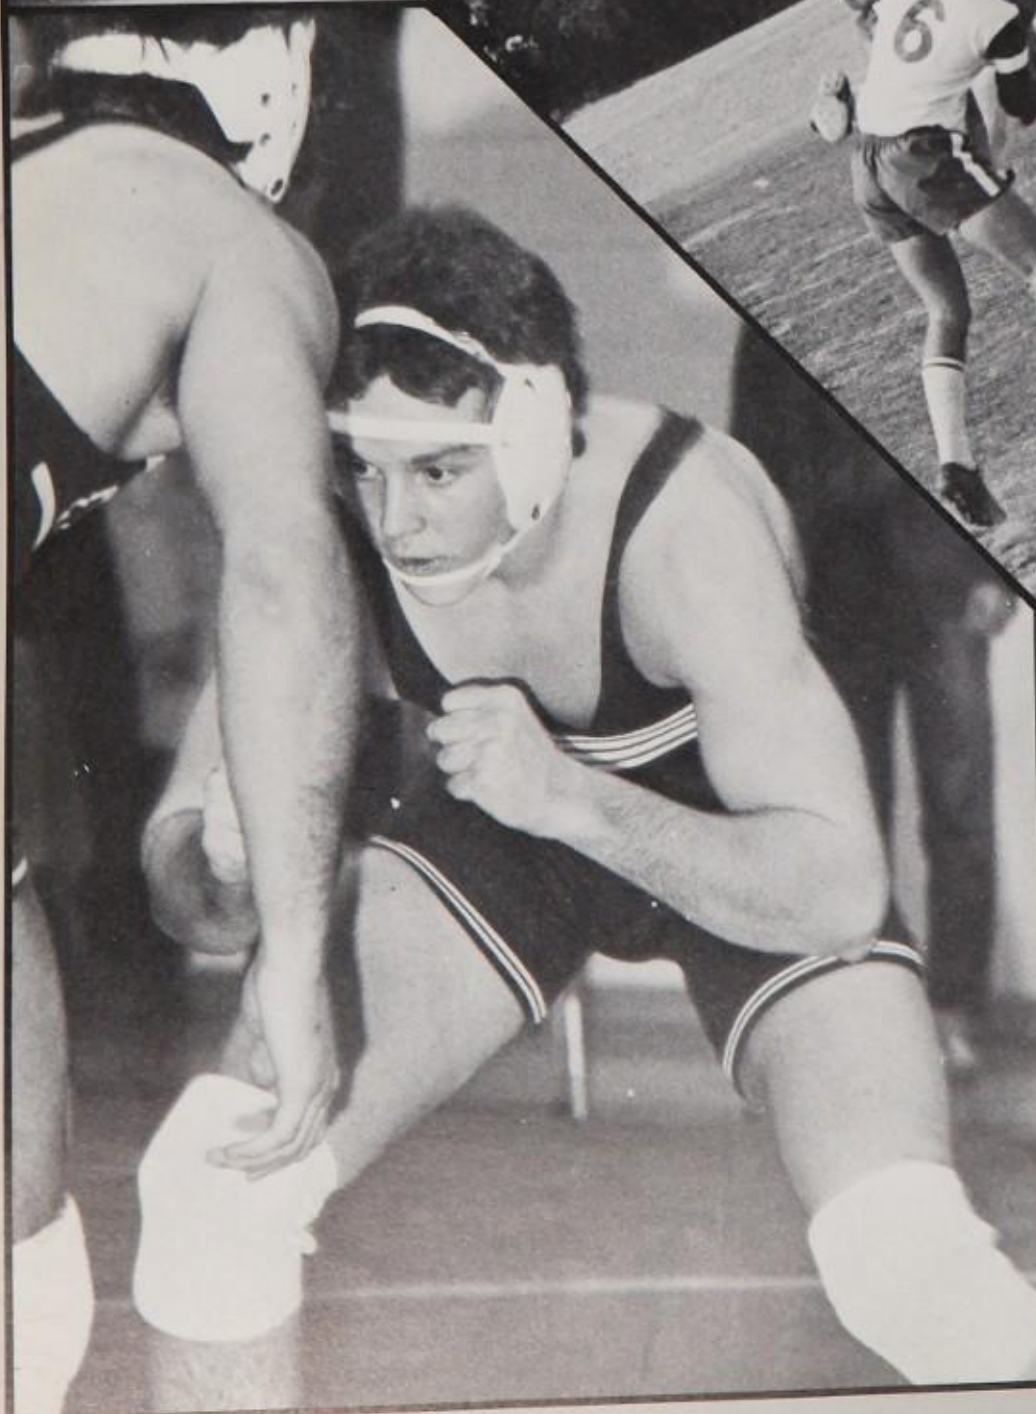

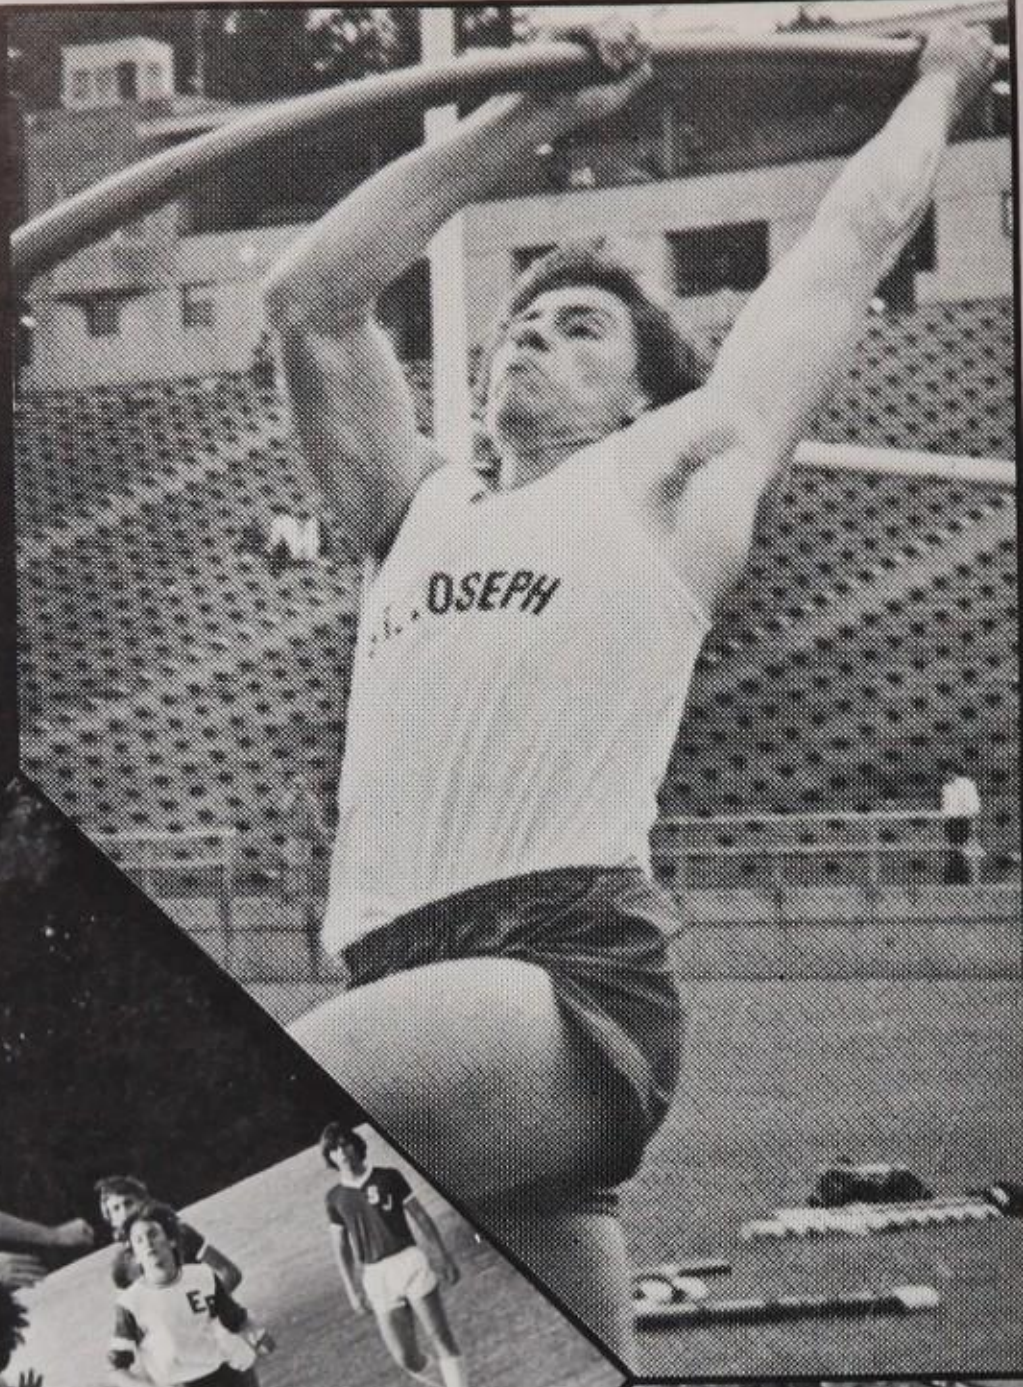

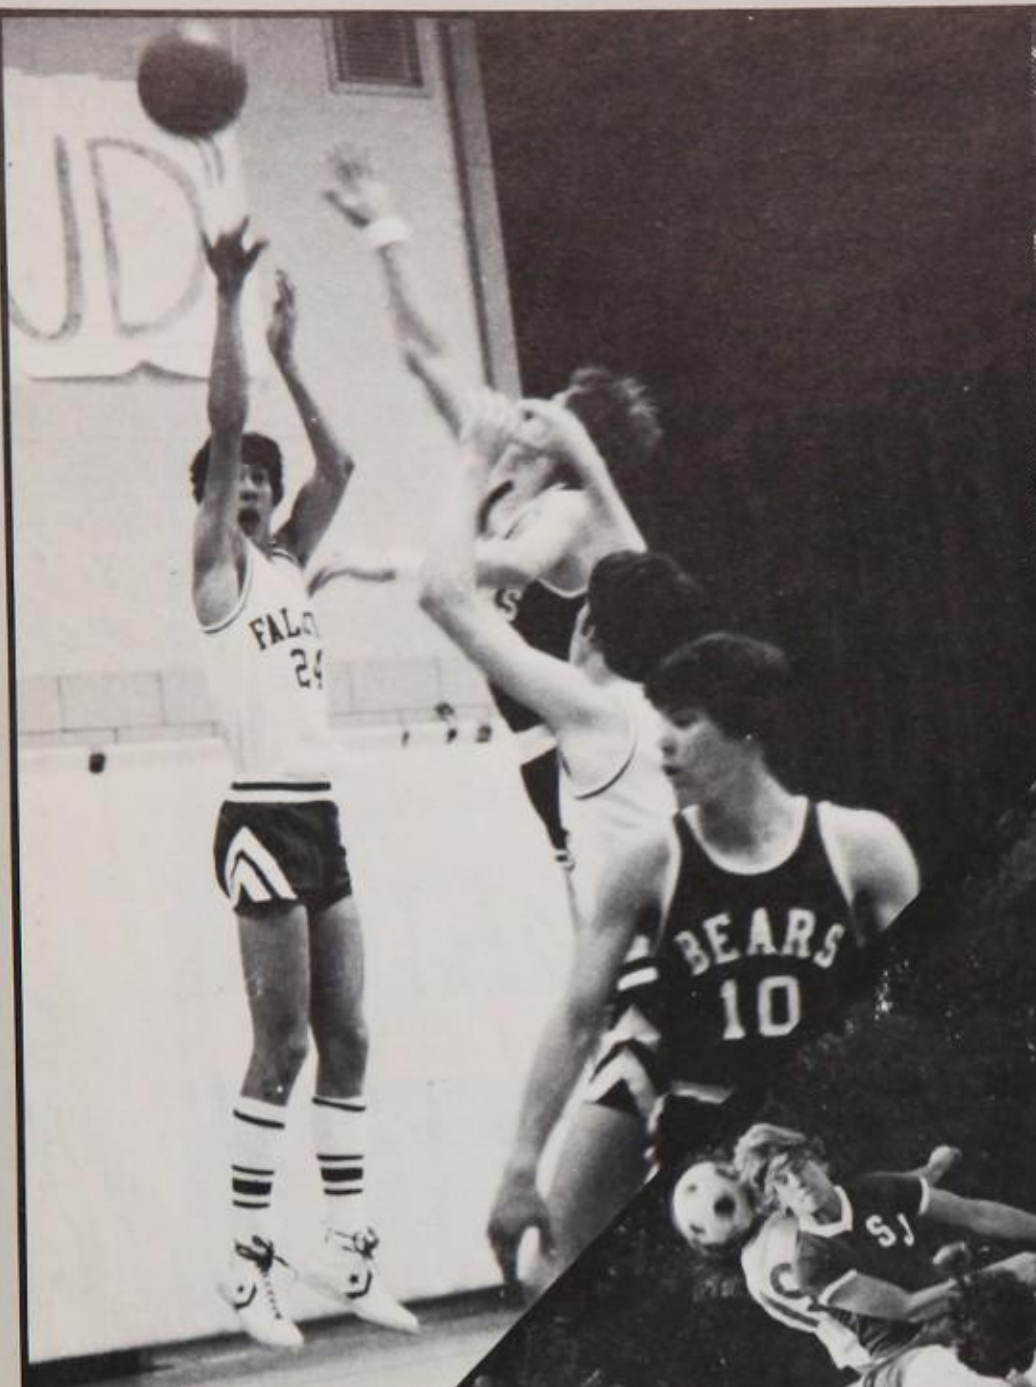

His schooling had helped him immensely, for it taught him the value of friendship, trust, and responsibility — simple things which at times are harder to master than differential equations, symbolism, and the theory of isolationism. It is uncertain whether or not he would ever use the latter three in day-to-day affairs, yet he would surely bear the former three in the back of his mind for the rest of his life.

High school had been difficult at times — perhaps more often than he wished to admit — yet in the end when everything was said and done he figured that it was worth it. He realized this now, that his four years were NOT in vain. And in his hand was what symbolized the reaching of this final step in high school — the diploma. A simple sheet of paper with his name typed in. What did it mean? After four years of struggling he most likely would have to struggle some more in college or wherever he would be. But this time around he would know how to approach his struggle. As he finished thinking about this, the final names had been called off and the stately presentation of diplomas had ended. The entire audience — parents, friends, and guests — was now giving the graduates a standing ovation and with due reason. They knew that there was more to high school than just the graduation ceremony.

JUNIOR VARSITY SOCCER

The record of this year's J.V. Soccer Team (6-6-2) was not a true indication of the squad's ability. Several key injuries in addition to the strain of playing for 3 different coaches detracted from the team's over-all performance.

The frontline was particularly strong. Led by sophomore Mike Tierce and juniors Sean Dougherty, Dan Sajewski, and Thorn Campbell, this potent attack booted 32 goals in 14 games.

An aggressive Ray Gibbons held down the center halfback position and, flanked by Tim McNulty and Tom Donnelly, helped provide a balanced attack.

The defense, anchored by Carl Pfister in goal and Bob Rahl, Richard Krawiec, and Bill Kells at fullbacks, inspired confidence in the many tight games. Despite difficulties, this team is capable of adding another impressive chapter to the St. Joe's Athletic Tradition.

The Falcons drive for another score.

Frosh thwarted momentarily by the defense.

The Freshman Soccer team completed a very successful season with a 5-2-5 won loss and tie record. The most noticeable characteristic of this outstanding squad was its fine blend of an exciting offense with a stifling defense. Brian Toolan with 10 goals and Neil Clancy with 6, led the team while the fine fullback squad along with goalie Brian Moore anchors the defense.

Ivan leads the Falcons to their annual county victory.

As the season began, the team was highly confident that they would sweep up first place victories across the board. The team did come through with four consecutive first place victories: the Edison Invitational, St. John's University Meet, Turkey Trot, and the Middlesex County Championship, which we won for the thirteenth consecutive year with the lowest score in the Counties' history, 23 points.

Following this great beginning, the team then sustained a number of key injuries well into the season. Thus, they concluded with a third place finish in both the Providence Invitational and Catholic Conference Championship and a fourth place finish in the State Finals.

Captain Matt Kelsh, despite suffering a foot injury, placed fourth in the counties and sixth in the Turkey Trot; co-captain Ivan Solero had a great season, placing third in the State Championships; sophomore John Wavro likewise turned in impressive efforts throughout the season, placing sixth out of 147 in the State meet.

There is always personal satisfaction in competing, especially when one realizes that he has done his best on any given day. The fruit of our labor was just this: we met the competition as it came and did our best on each occasion.

FRESHMAN CROSS-COUNTRY

The Freshman Cross-Country Team showed themselves to be a very capable squad, although the Championship meet eluded them this year.

Very consistent performances by Kevin Mulkerin, Steve Papp, and Chris McRoy led the team to a fourth place finish at the Edison Invitational Meet and a sixth place finish at the Catholic Conference Championship Meet.

Adding depth to the team and helping compile a winning 3-1 dual meet record were Pat Boyle, Peter Sajewski, Jim Koval, and Tom Kirchner.

Coach Ernst gives some last minute advice.

Another victim of Belunes' intensity.

Ranked as high as fifth in the state, the varsity wrestlers won three tournaments this year — the District Championship, the Bishop Ryan (Canada) Tournament, and the St. Peter's of Jersey City Tournament, and placed second in the Middlesex County Tournament behind powerhouse Madison Central, the only team to beat the Falcons in dual meet competition. Although the team was led by undefeated seniors Hone and Belunes three time district champs, and Bishop Ryan champs with Belunes being a two-time Regional champ; the talent did not end there as seniors Jim Grabler (two time district champ and third in the region), Jack Daneri (second in the St. Peter's and Bishop Ryan Tournaments), Peter Porcelli (district champion and St. Peter's champion as well as fourth in the region), and Maurice Martin did an excellent job in the middle weights. The upper weight trio of Belunes, regional champ John Antosiewicz, and Rich Masterson (the latter two winning the districts, the St. Peter's and Bishop Ryan Tournaments, and finishing second in the county) was undefeated in dual meet competition and had a fine overall record.

Outstanding underclassmen included Ray Calvano (third in the district and regional qualifier), Bob Fordi (fourth in the district), both sophomores, and Juniors Glenn Nacion (St. Peter's Tournament Champion), Stu Santiago (second in the district), and Doug Staebler. With some of this year's J.V. team moving up, next year's squad may keep the district title at St. Joe's.

JUNIOR VARSITY WRESTLING

Branigan applies pressure attempting to turn his opponent over for back points.

Schaefer stays in control.

With a team made up mostly of freshmen and sophomores, the junior varsity wrestlers won all but two of their matches this year and the reason could be the upper two weight classes. Freshman Mark Olsen at 188 and John Titolo at heavy-weight were consistent winners who will be able to fill the shoes of John Antosiewicz and Rich Masterson in the next year's lineup.

The lower weights of 101 and 108 with John Branigan and Mark Fagan started the team off right with pins most of the time; and with the Mueller brothers, Matt and Dave, the team kept rolling along. Quentin Lorentzen at 129 had another excellent season; and the middle weights were carried by Ed Magee, Tom Donnelly, and Mike McDermott. It is hoped that with the preparation received this year, many members of the J.V. team will be able to step into the varsity spots next year.

FROSH WRESTLING

Described by Coach Grosso as "a well balanced squad, laden with great potential," the freshman wrestlers enjoyed a successful season, sporting a reputable mark.

Witts about to score his 1000th point.

WITTS MAKES 1000th MARK

The fast-breaking style of new coach Mr. Bill Kuchar and great player attitudes combined to make this past season one of the most successful in St. Joe's history.

The team began its season with ten successive victories, including capturing the neighborhood crown and a stunning last-minute win over Madison Central. A heart-breaking loss to J.F.K. followed but the team recovered to finish with a laudable 19-6 log. Big victories included a crushing defeat of Woodbridge on their home court and a double overtime triumph against Camden Catholic. The losses to J.F.K. in the counties and Red Bank Catholic in the states stood out as the major disappointments.

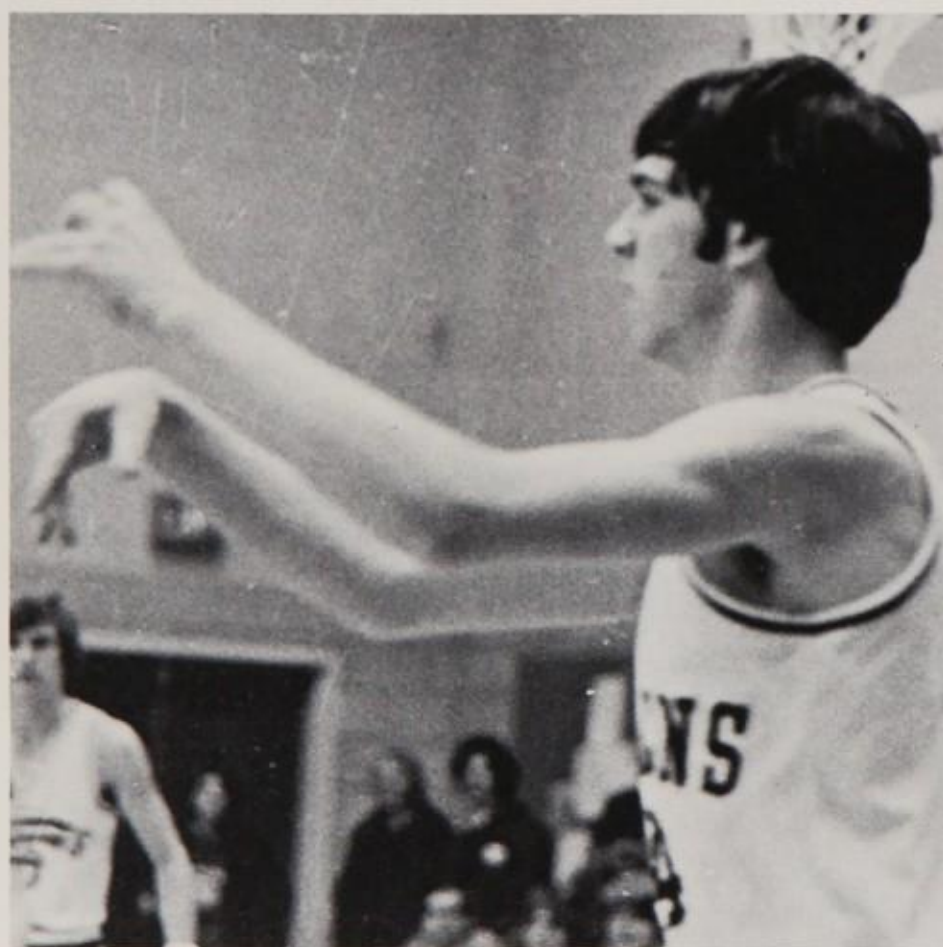

Garry Witts, considered a top college prospect, led the team in both scoring and rebounding and, flanked by Fran Bader and Jerry Mizerak (both of whom scored in double figures), completely dominated many games. The backcourt duo of James Mackinson and Jim Wolff provided steady offense and tenacious defense. Doug Dzema, Jim Lawlor, and Dennis Halligan offered quick relief to the starters throughout. The remainder of the squad provided ample bench strength to round out this tremendous squad.

An awesome front line helped this year's junior varsity compile an impressive 17-4 record. High scoring sophomores Russ Ziemba and Chuck Garey and rugged junior Steve Urbish combined to put many games out of reach early. The flawless ball-handling of Ray Gibbons and the accurate shooting of Bob Fox and Brian O'Connor played integral parts in the team's success. The team's great bench strength was indicated by the two 100-plus performances. Doug Smith, Mike Roglen, Eric Tonghini, Tim McNulty and Jim Shine contributed heavily in both of these efforts.

If this year's J.V. performance is any indication of their ability, next year's varsity squad will be a power with which to be reckoned.

VARSITY TRACK STATE CHAMPS

Our powerful track and field team this year had proved to be the best in the history of the St. Joe's Indoor Track program. This most rewarding season has brought both State and Catholic Championship titles, making St. Joseph's the number one track team in the state. The Eastern Track and Field Championship Meet was the climax of four months of tough winter weather workouts in which we placed a secure second. Due to the consistency of our training program, we reaped the fruits of success.

This year's championship team exemplifies some of the best track men in the fine tradition of St. Joe's track. One such member is Vince Reilly, who has been showing exceptional talent over the year. Currently ranked as number one in the Junior National decathlon, he has also set a National Catholic high school record of 15' 6" in the pole vault during the Easterns. The outstanding talents of the rest of the team resulted in being the best indoor track and field team in the state.

In addition to Vinnie, such runners as Ivan Solero, Pete O'Connell, Matt Kelsh, Ron Hoffman, and John Wavro were all superior in their respective events.

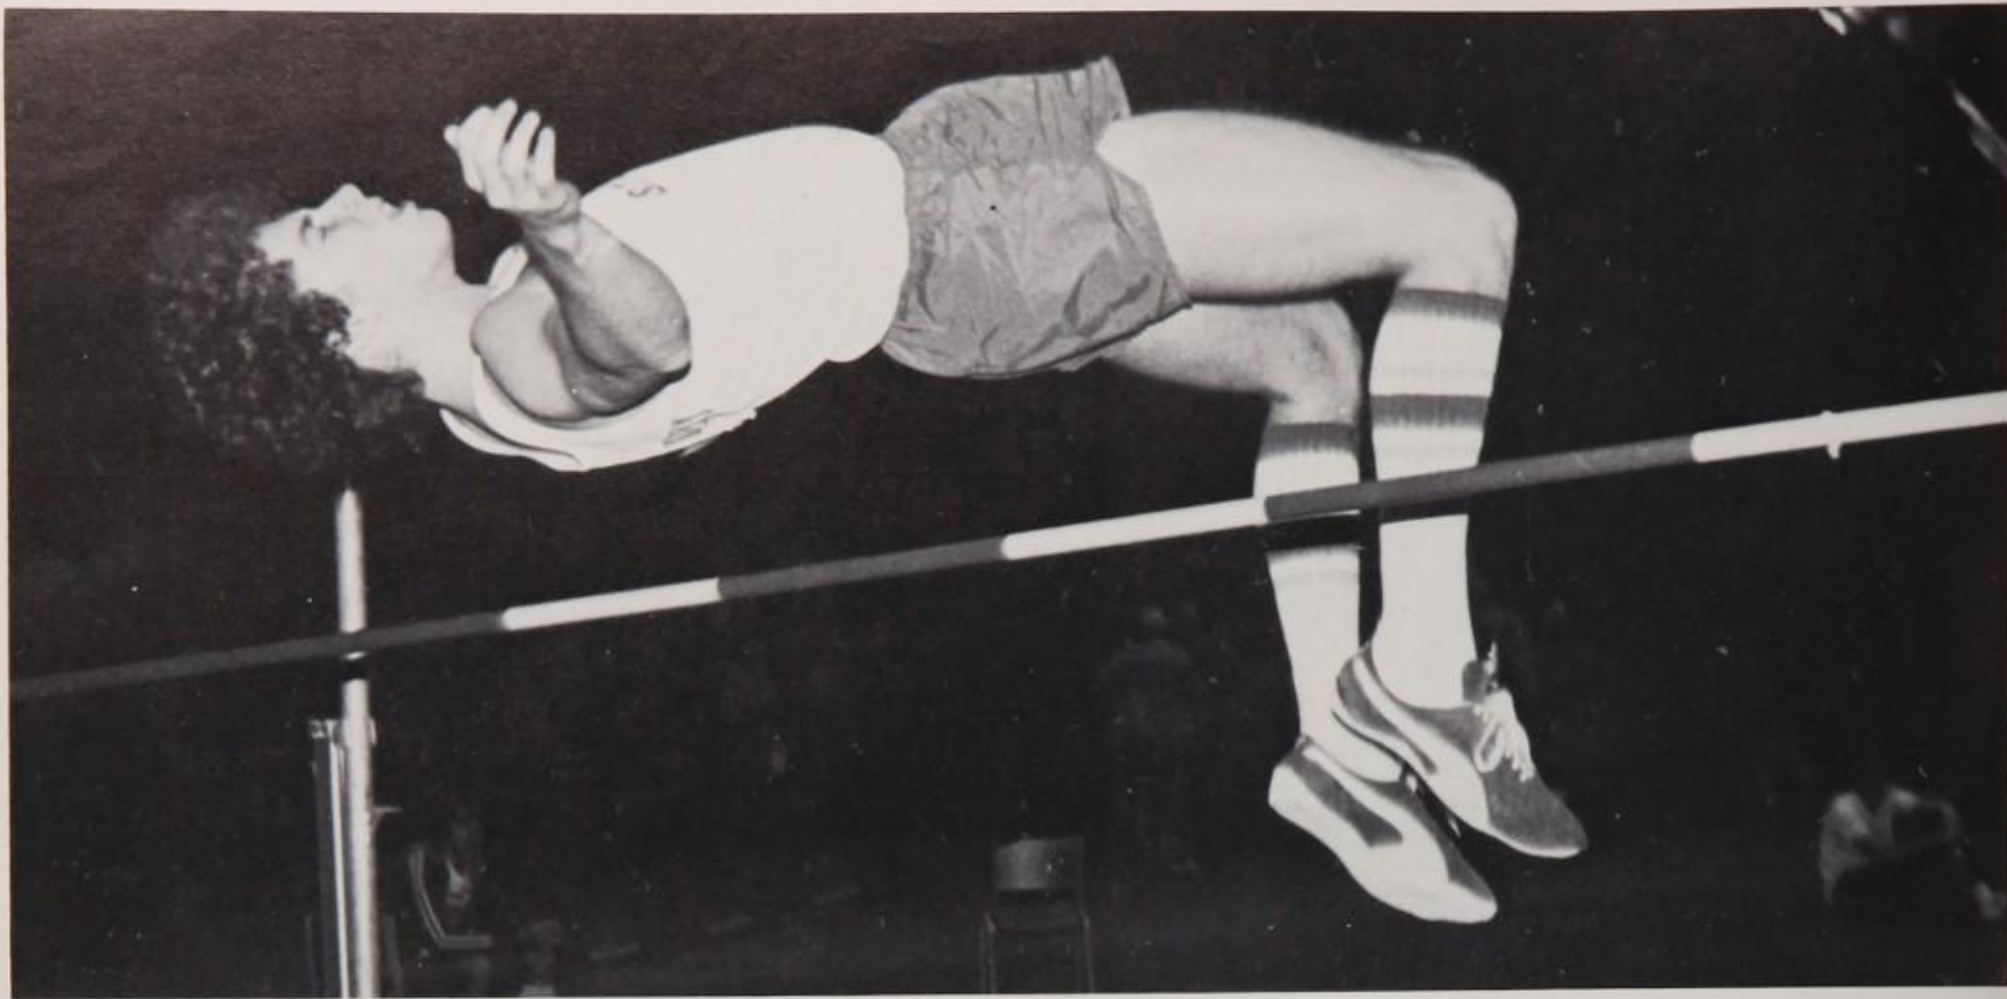

No one can really express how a team feels, knowing that you are the number one team in the state, unless he understands the relentless effort of not only the team, but its excellent coaches. Therefore, special thanks are extended to Mr. Al Ernst, Jim Langdon, Mike Mulqueen, Gary Trojanowski, and Jim Ziemba for their ever needed support, encouragement, and dedication.

Senior editors discuss layout plans.

With the dedication of a skilled group of workers, the 1977 EVERGREEN has become a reality. Although there were times when preparing layouts, typing copy, and selecting photographs seemed to be an endless job, all obstacles are behind us now. This book is the result.

Because of an excellent turnout in the area of purchasing the yearbook by the students, and with the revenue realized through advertising, this year's EVERGREEN could afford to be innovative, as the reader will find the book distinct from cover to cover. The entire format of the book has been changed to provide its readers with a more interesting type of book while still maintaining a modest price.

By studying the styles of other yearbooks, this year's staff has tried to incorporate the best points of each; we have tried to eliminate those points which students disliked in previous yearbooks. Hopefully, the staff and editors of the 1977 EVERGREEN have provided the students with as much enjoyment in reading it as we have had in preparing it.

FALCON

The reorganization of this year's FALCON proved to be a resounding success.

A constant staff furnished by students in the Saturday class for journalism was the greatest asset. Physically, the paper was changed to make it look more like a daily newspaper. The new style was organized better and was thus more pleasing to read.

In the latter part of the year, juniors were given the duties of putting out the paper in order to better prepare them for next year's responsibilities. With their knowledge everyone can expect a commendable publication next year.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Although hampered by the student body in many of its activities, the Student Council nonetheless provided St. Joseph's High School with a diversified area of extracurricular activities. With three moderators, this year's Council could devote more time to individual matters while still receiving help from the faculty. With Brother Francis in charge of meetings, Mr. Hodulik supervising assemblies, and Mr. Rosinski serving as dance moderator, the work of the Council was made easier, although still lacking the cooperation of some of the students, which detracted from the Council's effectiveness.

CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM COMMITTEE

This year's Constitutional Reform Committee, under the leadership of Mike Dalto, surpassed even last year's efforts at improving our Constitution. It is the job of this select committee to revise and develop our Constitution to its full potential.

ELECTION COMMITTEE

Due to the loss of vital material, the Election Committee had a slow start, but the Student Council elections went on anyway and there was a larger turnout than last year in both the number of voters and candidates. I hope that next year's committee holds elections as honest and productive as this year's committee.

AUGIE'S DOGGIES

Augie's Doggies are an elite group of men especially selected by Mr. Platko for their fortitude and ability to react quickly to unexpected situations that come up; such as pennies glued to the floor (a plot to disrupt the finely oiled machine of experts who, at precisely two o'clock every Monday through Friday, fan out and in only two short hours manage to clean the entire school building).

The Doggies are led by "The Aug" who barks out instructions from his command post in the boiler room. He takes great pride in his Doggies and with justifiable reason. They somehow manage to do an excellent job of keeping our school neat and presentable.

TOY DRIVE

The 1976-77 Toy Drive was the result of many hours of work and dedication by its staff. Once again the goal of making hundreds of underprivileged children happy at Christmastime was achieved. The committee would like to thank everyone involved: the staff, the student body, the administration, and the children for letting us share a little bit of the Christmas spirit with them. Through the efforts of these hard-working individuals the true generosity of the St. Joseph's community was expressed through the faces of the children.

Oh, I know that it's getting late
 But I don't wanna go home.
 I'm in no hurry, baby, time can wait
 Cause I don't wanna go home.
 Listen to the man, he sings his song
 And I don't wanna go home.
 I don't mind, baby, I'll stay all night long.
 I don't wanna go home . . .
 You're lookin' out at all the people staring
 I don't wanna go home.
 In their minds they know they're wrong
 I don't wanna go home.
 I know that it's time to go
 But I don't want to go home.

The Madison Central Basketball Game

Under the leadership of Bill Kinnelly, the School Spirit Committee did a tremendous job in bringing people to cheer our athletic teams on. The fine turnout at the state championship soccer game, as well as crucial basketball games, might be related in a small part to St. Joseph's victories. Other activities include promoting upcoming events as well as leading cheers.

CHESS CLUB

TOP ROW: J. Weigartner, M. Androvich, B. Baumgarten, D. Fraser, J. Buz, P. Hunt (pres.), R. Azzara, E. Schmeidler, J. Grabenstein, M. Bhatt, G. Gorsak. BOTTOM ROW: J. Talan, P. Appleby, K. Coanshock, F. Shubert, J. Kearns, B. Shipley, J. Gilligan (V.P.), C. Garey, D. McMullen.

The Chess club enjoyed a year of good competition and friendly rivalries. Under the leadership of new officers and a new moderator, the club kept up its spirit of providing an enjoyable and competitive time for all. Although membership was down from last year, a sizable number of freshmen and sophomores joined, adding new blood to our association.

Under the direction of Mr. Charles Hodulik, this year's audio-visual department continued to provide the students and teachers of St. Joseph's with the latest in technological development. Aside from providing videotapes of over 125 movies, TV shows, etc., the AV department is also in charge of the public address system in the school and has an added role this year: filming assemblies and basketball games. Led by a group of talented seniors and a few underclassmen, the boys in AV are ready for any request a teacher may put in at the last minute.

SKI CLUB

The Ski Club and friends.

Although some trips were cancelled, the Ski Club nonetheless had many opportunities to engage in their favorite wintertime hobby under the tutelage of Mr. Carney. Trips to Camelback and other famous ski resorts were planned, and with the leadership of avid skiers such as Dave Castellano, Fred and Mike Rojek, Ed Hayes and John Sokolowski, the groups had enjoyable times. Anyone with a pair of skis could sign up, and many students did so. Hopefully, the ski club can continue to prosper in future years.

This year's Assembly Committee achieved its goals with outstanding success. The goals of the committee were to present to the student body, entertaining, highly educational, and most interesting programs. The most memorable program was that of "Hypnotism" by Dr. N. A. Ross. All of the success was due to the great committee members and Joe Spann, who co-chaired behind the scene. I thank them and all of you for your support.

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE: A Moryan, B. Hercek. MISSING: T. Diering.

Once again, this year's publicity committee did an outstanding job in announcing and advertising school functions. The committee made posters for dances, plays, sports events, and just about every other school activity in an effort to inform the student body of the activities that go on around St. Joe's. Judging by the fine turnout at many of these functions, it can be said that the publicity committee did its job well.

EXCHANGE DAY

EXCHANGE DAY COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN: J. Finnegan, P. Porcelli.

Under the leadership of Peter Porcelli and John Finnegan, the Student Exchange Committee had numerous exchange day programs with local high schools. Although the participants might have signed up for reasons unrelated to scholastic matters, they nonetheless got to experience the various educational systems in the area, from the New North Brunswick High School to the modular scheduling at St. Peter's in New Brunswick and others in between. A lesson was learned by all involved, and it is hoped that the exchange day program will continue as it did under the leadership of individuals as competent as this year's chairmen.

DON'T DRINK

This year the Fine Arts Department chose as its fall production Woody Allen's spoof satirizing the art of American diplomacy behind the Iron Curtain DON'T DRINK THE WATER. This was the first straight comedy ever attempted at St. Joe's and it was an overwhelming success.

Taking the leads in this production were John Solar as an American tourist (a caterer from Newark "seeking asylum" in the United States embassy in Vulgaria) and Diane Baumann as his "Mah Jong hustling" wife. Also appearing in major roles were Chris Lyons as the bumbling ambassador Magee, and Lexy Zwartinski as the tourists' daughter with whom he ends up falling in love.

In the important supporting roles were Rich Guertin as the ambassador's assistant and Jay Koval as the chef.

"Serve crabs? Why sir, we serve anyone!"

THE WATER

The entire production was supervised by first-time producer and St. Joe's alumnus Mark Benson. At times working under difficult conditions, Mr. Benson held the play together and assured its success.

Once again the play was directed by the multi-talented Remo Pisani. The director of our last four plays, Mr. Pisani has appeared in several professional productions as well as having numerous television appearances. He has directed many local shows and is well-known for his opening night apparel.

The fall show was enjoyed by all of those individuals who participated and attended, and all look forward to future productions on the St. Joseph's stage.

Once again the VIGNETTE provided students gifted in the literary field an outlet for their creativity. Led by the experienced editorial staff of John O'Malley, Dan Castagna, and Gene Messina for the second straight year, and with the wisdom of Brother Regis presiding, the VIGNETTE continued to carry the finest in satire, fiction, short story, and artwork. With many underclassmen taking part in the preparation of this year's issues, it is hoped that the VIGNETTE will continue to be as interesting in the coming years as it was this year.

With new uniforms, the band had one of its most active years ever. As well as playing at the home basketball games, the strains of "Symphony Sid" were heard at the state soccer championship, student body assemblies, and many activities of the Father's Club. Putting together a good brass section to blend with the melodious woodwinds, the band had depth in the percussion area with four top-notch drummers.

Although graduating seniors will deplete the strength of the band, underclassmen will be able to take over. Top prospects include Jim Murphy on sax, Dave "Harry" Raccis on trumpet, and Patrick Gerrity on drums. With these musicians, the loss of Laszlo Horvath, Bob Host, Pete DeSciscio, and Glenn Watson will be more than made up for. Another fine year of music looms ahead.

STAMP CLUB

Consisting of about ten members, the Stamp Club has meetings twice a month. Free stamps are distributed to members when available. CHILDREN'S THEATER

Another year of pleasure and entertainment was furnished by the Children's Theater Group, which performed at various schools as well as the St. Joseph's Open House. To the delight of all spectators, the group, under the leadership of Miss Angela Della Ventura, provided continuous laughter and enjoyment at all of their performances. Made up of four seniors, four juniors and a sophomore, the Children's Theater performances will surely continue as tryouts produced a large number of applicants for this year's group. With seniors Rich Fitzgerald, Pete Tranfo, Paul Uccellini and Leo Hudzik graduating, there will still be a lot of talent in next year's group.

MODEL RAILROAD CLUB

Along with other new additions, the Model Railroad Club has made its debut at St. Joseph's. Under the direction of Mr. Jennings, the members proceeded to construct a layout. Aided by the Student Council's generous donations, the club took over a section of the dormitory and transformed it into Grand Central Station. The club has made a good start and in the coming years will gradually grow and provide an opportunity for interested students.

One of the new clubs this year, the Electronics Club has gotten off to a good start, with membership and interest among members both high. An assortment of ideas has been discussed at the meetings, ranging from the building of a Pong video game to the construction of a small radio telescope. With most members being underclassmen, chances are this club will be around for a while.

SOCIAL

The experience of Christian community leads naturally to service. Christ gives His people different gifts not only for themselves but for others. Each must serve the other for the good of all.

The Church is a servant community in which those who hunger are to be filled; the ignorant are to be taught, the homeless to receive shelter; the sick cared for, the distressed consoled; the oppressed set free — all so that men may more fully realize their human potential and more readily enjoy life with God now and eternally. To teach as Jesus did.

INTRAMURALS

This year's intramurals were moderated by Mr. Charles Walters, a teacher with persistence and determination. By October, the program was in full swing. Although volleyball and tennis were cut from the program, football, wrestling, hockey, and basketball remained as the popular powerhouses. The individual programs were headed by Ben Hogan for football, Dan Sheehan for basketball, and Jeff Forts and Lou Marino for hockey. Many thanks are in order to the students and teachers who participated in and helped in making the program a success.

The highlight of this year's Model United Nations group was its trip to Washington, D.C. early in March. With Brother Michael Yerkes in charge, the group had only one individual receive a citation — Matt Prusik, who got a ticket for jaywalking. But in the area of foreign diplomacy, future leaders such as Paul DeSarno, Bill Baran, Gary Marek and John Varley (remember them when they become famous) can remember where they got their start.
